The twenty-fifth Annual Meeting was held at the Southampton Princess in Bermuda. As usual, there was an outstanding scientific program as well as an opportunity for our members and their families to renew friendships. The meeting was officially opened by President Joel Mattison with the raising of the flag.

Silver medallions were given to each attending active member. Dr. William Hamm delivered the Upchurch Lecture. Dr. Bernie Kay received the Special Achievement Award for his contributions to his community. The Active membership stood at 264 at the end of the meeting.

Amelia Island, Florida was the site of the 1983 Annual Meeting. President Jim Fleming was presented with the new Presidential Medallion. The scientific program was highlighted by a panel on management of melanoma, on rhytidectomy and breast reconstruction. Dr. Reed O. Dingman was the Upchurch Lecturer. Dr. Sherell Aston was the ASAPS sponsored guest speaker and gave valuable talks on eyelid and facial surgery. Drs. Dick Mladick and Dick Morris gave the first presentation to the Southeastern on liposuction. As usual, the social and sporting events were enjoyed by all. Dr. Robert Brittan gave a fascinating talk on malpractice to a standing room only crowd on Tuesday afternoon.

President Bob Reeder presided over the twenty-ninth Annual Meeting which was held at Williamsburg, Virginia. Dr. Fred Grazer, ASAPS sponsored speaker gave an interesting paper on body contouring. Dr. Cliff Snyder returned to the Southeastern to give the Upchurch Lecture. Dr. Len Furlow was scheduled to participate on a panel on cleft lip and palate but found himself in a Richmond hospital with appendicitis. All enjoyed the slides of his surgery, getting a real, inside look at Len.

Dr. Andy Walker was brought into office with the first ever slide sound presentation.

Disneyworld and President Andy Walker teamed up to give the Southeastern a great twenty-eighth Annual meeting. The facilities, social events and scientific program all led to a truly outstanding meeting. Dr. Ian Jackson was an invited guest speaker and Dr. Bob Flowers was the ASAPS sponsored guest. Dr. John Mustarde gave a memorable Upchurch Lecture. Dr. Andy Moore was named the first recipient of the Kenneth L. Pickrell Award, to memorialize in his honor those qualities of a sharing teacher, an outstanding practitioner of the healing art and a compassionate gentleman — all of which Dr. Pickrell exemplified. Dr. Ron Johnson, elegantly costumed as a Mardi Gras court page, presented the Special Achievement award to Dr. Joel Mattison.

The twenty-ninth Annual Meeting was held at the Boca Raton Hotel & Club with President Jack Reynolds presiding. Beautiful Florida weather, an excellent scientific program and a lovely setting combined to make this an excellent meeting. Dr. Bruno Ristow, the ASAPS sponsored guest and the Upchurch Lecturer, Dr. Fernando Ortiz Monasterio made significant contributions to the scientific and social programs. Dr. Charlie Horton became the second Pickrell Award recipient. An update of ASPRS was given by President Billy Huger, who is of course, one of us.

Tuesday evening was special when the infamous "Flat Suckers" with no practice (apparent to all) entertained. The group consisted of Drs. Allen Hughes, Charlie White, Hal Bingham, John David Mullins and Lee Block.

The Southeastern returned to the Grand Hotel in Point Clear, Alabama for the thirtieth Annual Meeting. President John Royer had planned every detail including the weather to give a very memorable meeting. Dr. Jack Sheen presented the Upchurch Lecture and combined with Dr. Bruno Ristow, the ASA^{PS} sponsored guest, to conduct an open forum on nasal and facial surgery. Teaching courses were offered for the first time by Program Chairman, Dr. John Hartley and were extremely well received.

The Special Achievement Award was given to Dr. McCarthy Demere and Dr. Jim Davis received the Pickrell Award. At various times during 1986-87 the Southeastern had Bob Reeder, President of ASPRS, Norm Cole, President of ASA^{PS}, Mike Jabaley, President of ASSH and Bill Hoffman as President-elect of ASMS.

A full time office was established on November 1st 1987, with Bonnie Seitz as our Executive Secretary. The active membership at the end of this meeting was 325.
